RACE TRACK ACCIDENTS INSURANCE.

The Union Club of Germany has voted the annual sum of $8,750 as a personal contribution towards effecting an accidental insurance for those employed in the stables at the training centre of Hoppegarten. The benefit will be extended to all racing establishments where the persons employed hold the necessary permit from the Union Club to find work in recognized stable. The measure is excellent from a humanitarian point of view, but under the employers' liability act each trainer has hitherto been obliged by law to assure each person working in his establishment, so the question arises as to whether the usual payments have to be made by the trainers or whether the men he employs are to be doubly insured. It is suggested that those who are duly qualified to be considered inmates of a training stable shall, if under thirty years of age, receive $500 in case of a fatal accident, $900 in the event of total disablement, and two shillings a day for partial inability to work. Those who are over thirty get the same death allowance, but for total disablement the increased sum of $1,250, with a sum of three shillings daily for partial inability to pursue their calling. The Union Club is desirous of extending the advantages of an assurance system to the professional jockey, but in order to determine how far such an effort would meet with success a circular has been sent out to all holding licenses under the technical committee, asking their opinion as to the propriety of taking up the question at issue and their desire to profit by the advantages which would probably be offered them.

HALF BREDS TO BE REGISTERED.

Montreal, Que., April 25.—Steps have been taken for the preparation of a stud book for half-breeds by the Canadian National Bureau of Breeding in order that the half-bred get of bureau stallions may be kept track of. This has been found necessary for the reason that there is not now any book of record in which this stock can be registered, and while it will have an especial value all its own such a record will be necessary to protect intending purchasers from the imposition of unscrupulous breeders who might be disposed to sell them cold-blooded stock for half-bred.

All the foals of bureau sires will be registered with such particulars as will furnish the reader with the color, markings, date of birth, sex, name and breeding of sire, as well as the name and address of the breeder, and these books will be placed at the disposal of the Canadian Department of Militia and the representatives of the English war office whenever remounts are being sought. Breeders of foals by bureau sires will be furnished with certificates which will be a guarantee of the genuineness of the breeding of the youngsters for which they are issued, and it will be readily seen that these breeding certificates will materially enhance the market value of the animals for which they are issued.

PENSACOLA PATRONAGE CONTINUES LIGHT.

Pensacola, Fla., April 25.—Today's attendance was again light and entailed a considerable loss for the books. The racetrack was featureless in its unsatisfactory. First Premium's success in the closing dash left a bad odor, as all the others in the race gave the winner clear sailing for the entire trip. Jockey Hall indulged in some rough riding and the judges fined him for it.

Virsain, which had been a carded starter in the second race, ran away before the start, necessitating his withdrawal and the declaring off of bets.

There were several departures today of horses for Marlboro.

DECLINE OF BREEDING IN CALIFORNIA.

Coast Writer Points Out Devastation Wrought by Hostile Legislation in Golden State.

In a review of the decline of thoroughbred breeding in California, largely as a result of hostile legislation in that state, Ralph H. Tozer refers to the fact that at one time California was second only to Kentucky in the importance of the industry and goes on to say:

"California had the largest stock farms in this country, as well as many famous ones. Time was when 'Lucky' Baldwin had 56,000 acres in the San Gabriel valley and bred yearly fifty odd thoroughbreds, as well as harness and work horses, at his Santa Anita Rancho. His Grinstead stock was renowned for racing prowess.

"Rancho del Paso, held by J. B. Haggin, consisted of 44,000 acres of Sacramento's richest land, and on this place the Kentuckian annually reared for many seasons fully 300 thoroughbreds and perhaps half as many horses of trotting blood stock. He had the champion Salvador, Firenze, Miss Woodford, Lizzie Lucas, the New Zealand horses Darebin, Sir Modred, Artillery, Maxim and July, many English horses that cost thousands, including Goldfinch, Golden Garter, Star Ruby, Midlothian and others, and their sons and daughters that had made great fame as racers or sires, or both. About four years ago the horses were sold in New York and Rancho del Paso, as the greatest stock farm in the world, became but a memory. Thus, at one fell swoop, about 600 thoroughbreds were taken out of this state.

"The most remarkable collection of equine celebrities ever known and owned by a great judge with unlimited wealth at his back, enabling him to purchase anything his fancy dictated or his horse loving heart desired. Indeed, J. B. Haggin is the greatest owner of thoroughbreds of which there is any record—a gentleman of eight odd, bred to be a horse lover, his father a Virginian, living in Kentucky and his mother of Turkish blood.

"When Senator Leland Stanford died, in the middle nineties, he had the greatest establishment in the world for the breeding of trotters, as well as a thoroughbred farm of no mean proportions. He annually raised at Palo Alto more than 200 trotting-bred horses and at Mayfield something like fifty thoroughbreds. They sold a two-year-old champion trotter, Arion, for $125,000 and Suncat for $50,000, besides many others at fabulous figures. At one time he had the honor of raising the record holders of the world at from one year to six. Among the thoroughbreds from Palo Alto farm were Racine, Flambeau, Gorgo, Floodtide, Pliny, Homer, Rinfax, Giffamine and Filtration.

"The late Senator Hearst was quite a big breeder in those days, too, as was the late State Senator L. U. Shippee, of Stockton, and Fred Gebbard in Lake county. In Yolo and Sacramento counties were the farms of Charles Fair, M. Diggs, John Adams, Theodore Winans and Prichard and Todhunter, where many noted horses were reared.

"Scarcely less famous than Palo Alto was the San Mateo Stock Farm of the late William Corbett, where Guy Wilkes, Sable Wilkes and others made their homes. The Valensin farm at Pleasanton and the Cook farm at Danville were also great establishments, both having raised many record breakers in years past.

"Near Bakerfield was the thoroughbred farm of Charles Kerr and the trotting establishment of Messrs. Haggin, Carr & Tevis. Mr. Kerr raised annually more than forty thoroughbreds of blue blood. Theodore Winans and Prichard reared the finest work horses in the country—Shires, Clydesdales and Cleveland bays—besides fully 100 trotters or pacers of royal extraction.

"In Santa Clara county were several stock farms, where were reared both thoroughbreds and trotters of great fame, such as great arms, including J. R. DeNalbe, Rex, Sargent and Seven Oaks. In San Mateo county were the thoroughbred breeders Prince Poniatowski, who owned Magnet, The Fog and more than thirty mares, and W. O. B. Macdonough, with the unbeaten $150,000 'horse of the century,' Ormonde, St. Carlo, Ormonde, Ossary, Orsini and over forty mares. In Colusa and the northern counties, especially Humboldt, all had their important breeding farms and raised many celebrities of the track and stud.

"Marin county had as breeders the late Judge M. M. Shafter, G. Pacheco and the Asylum farm. Sonoma had many great arms, including J. R. Chase's and S. White's. In Mendocino, Burns & Waterhouse had quarried more than fifty mares and the stallions Eddie Jones, Altamex, Maxine, Colonel Wheeler and Galveston. These Burns & Waterhouse horses are now in Nevada, as are those of the late Charles Hargis and Prichard, reared the finest work horses in the country—Shires, Clydesdales and Cleveland bays—besides fully 100 trotters or pacers of royal extraction.

"Now, with the recent passage of the bill that sounds the death knell to racing in California, there will be a further cut in horse breeding in California that will mean a lot to many a man's pride and pocket. The blighting measure will cause the grass to grow over a hundred race tracks in the state, and it means that perhaps $10,000,000 worth of racing plants and animals in the racing and trotting stock will be rendered worthless, but of the of their former value. Men will be driven to desperation and disgrace through their losses, and little, if any, good accomplished. There will be an exodus of racing men and their charges to Tia Juana and other places, and hundreds of eastern visitors will annually go to San Diego instead of coming to San Francisco.

"When appropriations for the fairs were in vogue we saw King Horse's most flourishing reign for a period running from 1850 to 1895, and when it was taken away by the Legislature the horse racing industry began to dwindle and dwindle. Senators Hearst and Stanford and Shippee died and their stock was dispersed, as was that of J. L. Rose and Prichard & Todhunter, while Mr. Winters moved to Nevada.

"Now, with the recent passage of the bill that sounds the death knell to racing in California, there will be a further cut in horse breeding in California that will mean a lot to many a man's pride and pocket. The blighting measure will cause the grass to grow over a hundred race tracks in the state, and it means that perhaps $10,000,000 worth of racing plants and animals in the racing and trotting stock will be rendered worthless, but of the of their former value. Men will be driven to desperation and disgrace through their losses, and little, if any, good accomplished. ARMY RACE AT FORT ETHAN ALLEN.

New York, April 25.—That the United States army is seriously concerned in the movement to continue the development of the thoroughbred through the instrumentality of racing a plan of the officers at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., to bring about an international military steeplechase next fall bears witness. The Tenth Cavalry is quartered at Fort Ethan Allen and its officers, commissioned and non-commissioned, are famous riders. They have built for themselves, on ground contiguous to the post, a steeplechase course two miles around, and they are about to challenge the crack riders of the British military service, regular and colonial, stationed in Canada, to meet them in a "chase of two miles, two miles and a half, three miles or three miles and a half, some time in September or October, the contestants to ride their own horses, whether half bred or thoroughbred.

The race the officers of the Fort Ethan Allen garrison propose is the first thing of the kind ever suggested and highly important results are apt to flow from it. If it should develop that the British officers are better mounted than their American rivals a new incentive to aid in the promotion of the improvement of the breed of horses will be given.

The breeding bureau of the Jockey Club has already put it in the power of the officers of the garrison at Fort Ethan Allen to improve the quality of their remounts by establishing there the bureau station Traveler.

Traveler, a strapping son of Prince of Melbourne and Rose Prim, bred by Henry T. Oxnard at the Blue Ridge Stud in Fauquier county, Virginia, has been at Fort Ethan Allen under the charge of Captain C. H. Boyd since last spring. He was presented to the breeding bureau of the Jockey Club by George Odum, who broke and developed him.

This son of Prince of Melbourne and Rose Prim is qualified in many ways to accomplish the work of improving the officers' remounts. He is a good individual, big boned, muscular and finely proportioned of the sturdy stallion line of Bramble and Bonnie Scotland. And on top of all this he was a fast and courageous race horse, with a tractable temper.

The officers of the garrison of Fort Ethan Allen, who mated cold-blooded mares to Traveler last spring are getting finely formed half bred foals this year. Last season many army officers bought at the public sales a considerable number of two-year-old thoroughbreds, principally fillies, the prevailing purpose being to get animals which later on could be mated with thoroughbred stallions.

The purchasers of these two-year-olds and other officers have united in a general request to the officers of the United States army to admit three-year-olds in all military races. Heretofore military races have been limited to horses four years old and over. Their request will be granted. The military races will be thrown open to three-year-olds and over.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

The Ogden meeting will be run on the open ring plan and will be extended for an additional week beyond the fifteen days for which it is scheduled if patronage warrants such action.

John Danby, of Brough, Yorkshire, is believed to be the oldest living rider in the Liverpool Grand National Steeplechase. Mr. Danby, now ninety years of age, but a hale and hearty farmer, rode Pluralist in the National of 1847, sixty-four years ago.

In the Prix de Capcyron, for three-year-olds, value $1,000, distance one mile and seven-eighths, run at Maisons-Laffitte yesterday, W. K. Vanderbilt's Golden was second. The same owner Negofol finished second in the Prix de Nonant la Vin, of $1,000, distance seven-eighths.

Last Week

In my advertisement I called attention to inside information that I was able to furnish through unequalled sources on a profit-sharing basis. Unfortunately I find that the percentage of people who lived up to the agreement is too small to warrant a continuance on this basis on account of the high expense. My arrangements are complete for "get-away" day at Norfolk, Wednesday next, and on the opening day at Pimlico next Saturday, through the leading horsehoe at the track, I will be put in touch with as much of a prepared good thing as is possible in racing. From what I understand, the odds will be good. I advise one horse only and will prove again to you the value of honest methods, coupled with advice that comes from the best connections. Have the same bet on both horses. Terms for both Five Dollars. Remit by mail or special delivery or telegraph, and be convinced of a square deal.
